The References

Information sources that inform the thesis must be cited. This includes an In-Text Citation and a list of References. References go on a separate page at the end of your book. It includes all the resources you used in your research, including figures (images). This helps readers find where you got information from and gives credited to creators.

References must be in APA 6th ed. citation format and be listed alphabetically by author’s last name with a hanging indent for each entry.
